ABOUT ME

I obtained Master and PhD degree of Information Technology from International Islamic University Malaysia. I am currently a lecturer at the Department of Information Systems, IIUM. I started my research project related to using mobile devices among older people. I love to learn and explore user experience design field specifically related to older people and learning disability. From this research area, I can contribute to the society by creating solutions that better serve individuals and communities, ultimately improving the overall quality of interactions with technology and digital services.

ABOUT ME

I obtained my Bachelor of Management Information Systems (BMIS) degree from IIUM in 2002 and joined IIUM as an assistant lecturer in 2003. After completing my MSc in Information Security from RHUL, UK in 2005, I returned to Malaysia as a lecturer at IIUM. In 2009, I attended the prestigious IPICS program in Regensburg during my PhD studies. In 2014, I earned a PhD degree from Plymouth University, UK in Personalizing Information Security Education. As an assistant professor in KICT, I have taught courses like Management Information Systems, Control and Audit of Information Systems, Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery, and Information Resource and Strategy Management. I have supervised Final Year Projects, Industrial Attachment, and guided MSc and PhD students. I also represented KICT in the Staff Mobility Programme in Morocco in 2014. With a strong academic background and a dedication to information security education, I strive to make a meaningful impact on the field and inspire future IT professionals.

The scientific poster competition was held in connection with the International Event for Autism and Dyslexia from March 10–13, 2023, at the JB Convention & Exhibition Centre, Berjaya Waterfront Hotel Johor Bahru. The Johor Autism Summit (JAS), a gathering organised by Persatuan Kanak-Kanak Austisme Johor, was hosted for the first time in 2019. Its goal was to advance the delivery and execution of affirmative actions for people with autism and dyslexia. The most recent conference, JAS23 held in March 2023 had introduced various topics including therapy and treatment, research and development (R&D), and how technology may assist autistic and dyslexic children to live more autonomous and fulfilling lives. JAS23 featured renowned speakers in the field of special education and exhibitors showcasing the latest developments in related products and services.

OBJECTIVES OF SCIENTIFIC POSTER COMPETITION JAS23

- Explore various research disciplines in promoting rehabilitation discourse for autism and learning disabilities.
- Explore the use of technology in therapy and treatment to deliver affirmative action in dealing with autism and other learning disabilities.
- Establish a platform among researchers, schools, professionals, and parents in promoting ICT and other research solutions for dealing with autism and learning disabilities.
- Contribute to the community of parents who has children with autism and other learning disabilities.

JAS23 has featured scientific presentations organized by Kulliyyah of Information and Communication Technology (KICT) International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). 42 posters registered for the competition. Ten of them received gold medals, twenty received silver medals, and twelve received bronze medals.
